Issue Paper

Mandatory Signs a Marijuana Licensee Must Post on a Licensed Premises

Date: May 1, 2019

Presented by: Kathy Hoffman, Policy and Rules Coordinator

Description of the Issue

Over the last two decades, and since the inception of cannabis legalization, use of cannabis among pregnant women has increased from 2.37% of pregnant women in 2002 to 7.1% in 2017.^{1 2} At the same time, perceptions of harm or risk about cannabis use among pregnant women has increased. Research around the use of cannabis efficacy or safety remains unchanged, however, and evidence suggests that cannabis use during pregnancy may be associated with low birthweight, pre-term birth, and cognitive delay. While there may be limitations on studies that associate cannabis use during pregnancy with fetal and child health risks, current evidence does not suggest that use during pregnancy is advisable, and information about potential risks is important for healthcare practitioners, pregnant people, and budtenders or employees who may be transferring knowledge on the topic.

Currently, WAC 314-55-086 describes mandatory signs that marijuana licensees must post on licensed premises. Among these is a sign stating, "Should not be used by women that are pregnant or breastfeeding." This specific warning previously aligned with the language of other existing rules concerning warnings on packaging, labeling and accompanying materials. As a result of recent changes to packaging, labeling and accompanying material rules, WAC 314-55-086 must be revised and updated.

The purpose of this issue paper is to recommend that the Washington State Liquor and Cannabis Board (WSLCB) proceed with rule adoption (CR103) regarding revisions to WAC 314-55-086 – Mandatory signs a marijuana licensee must post on a licensed premises.

Why is rule making necessary?

Currently, WAC 314-55-086 addresses mandatory signage that a licensee must post on a licensed premises, including a notice about the prohibition of persons under twenty-one years of age on licensed premises, along with the warnings that are no longer requirements for accompanying material. As a result, the board proposes to amend and update WAC 314-55-086 by clarifying language for mandatory signage. This will provide rule clarity, and assure coordinated signage so that consumer messaging regarding the use of marijuana during pregnancy is consistent and clear. Additionally, rule language was updated and streamlined throughout the section to assure structural consistency, and uniform, clear guidance throughout the section.

These amendments support the overarching agency goal of ensuring the highest level of public safety by continually improving and enforcing regulations that reflect the current dynamic environment. Clarifying the rules and updating signage will not result in increased costs or administrative burden on the regulated community. Increasing consistent, clear messaging and enhancing public education efforts about the use of marijuana during pregnancy is expected to benefit both the regulated community and consumers.
