Small Business Liaison Team

- The Office for Regulatory Innovation & Assistance is doing an outreach project across the state to talk with small business owners and local governments about Washington's regulatory processes and what the state can do to make policies easier on our small businesses.
- There will be six events in all, with the first two planned later this month.
- One of our agency small business representatives will attend the Yakima event on the 27th and will report back on the feedback and lessons learned. We will also attend one on this side of the state once they are scheduled.
