What are the ground rules for deliberative dialogue?

- The purpose of dialogue is to understand and learn from one another (you cannot “win” a dialogue).
- This is not a debate; we are not seeking points of divergence, listening to find flaws, or points to argue.
- There is no “right” answer.
- All dialogue participants speak for themselves; not as representatives of others’ interests.
- In dialogue, everyone is treated as an equal; leave status and stereotypes at the door.
- Be open and listen to others, especially when you disagree. Suspend judgment.
- Identify and test assumptions – even your own.
- Listen carefully and respectfully to the views of others; acknowledge you have heard the other, especially when you disagree.
- Look for common ground.
- Respect all points of view.
- The moderator objectively guides the discussion.
- Since this is a public work session, anything shared has the potential to become part of a public record.
